Frieda Doerfer
To the stars

Spread your wings and fly. Set loose from the earth we can flutter to other worlds. Winged on our way to the unknown.

Katrin Feulner
CUT

Found metal objects are cut by hand into separate shapes with individual textures. Concatenated in rhythmic order, these parts play a game with our need for both balance and tension.

Elwy Schutten
Fabric or Skin?

Each garment can be associated with specific values. Whenever we wear something, do we impose our identity to it, or are the clothes we wear imposing their identity to us? And what can jewellery add to the messages told by us and our clothing?
